

Drainage surveys and repairs.
Our approach.

What makes our drainage service different? Attention to detail.

At William Hunt Consulting we understand the value in good quality reporting which is why our reports always provide detailed, relevant and accurate information. When repairs are completed for added piece of mind we provide a post-repair survey report photographing and detailing the works completed.

The benefits.

- Expert technicians with vast experience in all types of drainage and defects
- Nationwide coverage for surveys and repairs with most visits undertaken within 1 week
- Peace of mind with comprehensive reporting on all surveying and repair jobs

Understanding your needs.

With a van equipped to tackle even the most challenging jobs, a comprehensive understanding of repair options and extensive knowledge of different drainage systems we're confident we can meet our brief every time.

We understand the unique requirements when undertaking both drainage surveys and repairs as part of a subsidence claim. We also understand that a swift response is only part of the requirement, our experienced operatives are able to explain their findings and provide assurance to homeowners.

Complex repairs made easy.

Even the most difficult of repairs are made easy with the bespoke equipment used to carry out cement based liner repairs to depths in excess of 5.0m from ground level, without the need for deep excavations.

A safe pair of hands.

When investigating drains we believe that trust in the contractor is vital. We believe our experience of drainage systems and knowledge of insurance claims combined with a strong customer service ethos makes our service difficult to match.
